

In Your Neighborhood - Longmont

Personal Investment Enterprise (PIE) Program—matched savings and financial literacy program driving over $1.25 million into our local economies. There were 123 PIE program graduated in Longmont. 58 purchased a home, 25 developed a business and 40 pursued secondary education.

We are the local sponsor of the EPIC book drive to benefit local children with limited access to books, especially during summer break. Thousands of books were provided to children in Longmont as well as the TLC Learning Center Longmont.

FHUW's Volunteer Connection brings volunteer teams together with local non-profits that need help at projects in Longmont.

United Way's Volunteer Connection partnered with DOVIA Colorado to launch a local chapter ensuring an even stronger volunteer experience.

2-1-1 offers a free, simple way to call for information and referral addressing all kinds of challenges facing residents of Longmont.

The Boulder County Assuring Better Child Health and Development Partnership streamlines access to developmental services for children in Longmont and all of Boulder County.

The Early Childhood Council of Boulder County expands and improves the quality and availability of early childhood care, learning, and wellness for families.

OUR CENTER Family Leadership Training Institute empowers individuals and families to drive positive change while serving in meaningful leadership roles.

Boulder County Safer Families Initiative is dedicated to keeping children safe, providing them with a supportive, nurturing environment, and supporting non-abusing parents who are also victims of domestic violence.

Getting Ahead for Spanish Speakers offers a 'Getting Ahead' class for Spanish-speakers in our community, with additional emphasis on financial skills and being a smart consumer.

Better Together is a set of workshops that empowers individuals to develop the personal skills and connections to help protect themselves, their families and their neighbors during emergency situations.

We are proud to count Longmont City Manager Harold Dominguez as a hard-working member of our Board.

Foothills United Way

